For forty years Hartsough has been engaged in nonviolent movements from the civil rights lunch counter sit-ins to peacemaking in the former USSR, Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Kosovo & the Philippines with Witness for Peace, Peace Brigades International & Nuremberg Actions.

Since 1999 Hartsough has been working full time in the creation of the Nonviolent Peaceforce, a large scale alternative to violence and war based on Gandhi's Shanti Sena, Peace Army.

- The Nonviolent Peaceforce is the only professionally trained, international, unarmed civilian peace force in the world.
- Peace teams, responding to requests from local groups, are currently deployed in Sri Lanka, the Philippines, and Guatemala with projects underway for Columbia and Uganda.
- The Nonviolent Peaceforce is a federation of 100 peace organizations from 50 countries providing a paid, unarmed protective force of civilians from around the world, trained in nonviolence.
- The Nonviolent Peaceforce-what to say YES to when you say NO to war.

Hartsough holds a BA from Howard University and an MA from Colombia University in International Relations. He is the Executive Director of Peaceworkers and his articles can be found in such journals as Sojourners, Fellowship, Peacework, Friends Journal, and in Kosovar Albanian publications.
